THEY WANT VANCE.

The Anti-Liquor Crusaders Desire Him Appointed

TO HELP COUNTY ATTORNEY SAFFORD

In the Prosecution of Liquor Cases—They Will Pay the Cost of His Employment.

County Attorney H. C. Safford is now preparing for the rush of criminal business which will be upon him next month when the fall term of the district court opens and the promised grand jury is convened by Judge Hazen.

There will be an unusually large amount of regular criminal business in the district court and the county attorney will have his hands full without giving his personal attention to the extra business occasioned by the meeting of the grand jury.

The anti-liquor crusaders executive committee, now known as the Municipal league, which has been busy securing evidence against violators of the prohibition law, are anxious that the grand jury shall do the best work possible and have as good legal assistance as can be furnished.

With this end in view, at last night's meeting of the executive committee it was decided to ask County Attorney Safford to appoint Judge A. H. Vance as his special deputy to look after the business before the grand jury.

The committee in making this request made it that the county attorney might not be embarrassed by having too much work on his hands, and that the prosecution before the grand jury may be looked after by a man personally interested in the enforcement of the law.

It is the understanding that the appointment of Judge Vance as special deputy county attorney to look after the grand jury business shall not cost the county anything; his fee will be paid by the crusade committee.

The crusade committee has been successful in securing a large amount of evidence, which will come out when the grand jury gets to work.

Some of the men arrested and now in jail as a result of the committee's work have signified their willingness to plead guilty to one count each, but that is not satisfactory to the committee, as the evidence against all of the men now in jail is strong and they will no doubt be convicted on several counts each when the cases come to trial.

AN OFFICIAL HACK RIDE.

The Police Doing Lots of Talking About Deputy Sheriff Wilkerson.

The police are busy circulating a story about the official misconduct of Deputy Sheriff T. C. Wilkerson in charging up enough mileage to pay for a hack ride.

The facts in the case are as follows: Ed Wilson and Charles Nolana were arrested just outside the city limits at Shore on the early morning of August 20th. The men were tramps and had been raising a row with the Rock Island trainmen. The police had been telephoned that they were there and Officers Steele, Davis, Gordon and Russell went to see about it. Finding it outside their jurisdiction they returned to North Topeka where they got under Sheriff Tom Wilkerson and took him along. The men were arrested with others and found guilty the next day.

In making out his voucher for the trip, Mr. Wilkerson entered the mileage at fifty miles. The distance traveled does not amount to more than five. The police say he is not altogether entitled to that as they did all the work and furnished the wagon, the patrol wagon being used.

In addition to this Mr. Wilkerson says that when the police were at first informed of the presence of the tramps they refused to walk out to the place and so hired a hack. This they had no right to do officially, and when it came to paying for the hack the police were ready to back out as they had no feeling coming and would consequently have had to pay for it out of their own pockets. Mr. Wilkerson says that in this emergency he came to their rescue with an offer to increase his mileage and pay for the hack himself, which they accepted. This the police do not deny.

NEARLY LOST HIS EAR.

Kick From a Horse That Almost Cost a Man's Life.

Charley Davis, who is a blacksmith at the shop of Volk & Kesson, on Fifth street between Jackson and the avenue, was kicked by a horse that he was shoeing yesterday afternoon and nearly killed. He had gone to the Bonnett stables on West Eighth street to shoe the horse and was a little careless in handling him. The horse suddenly kicked him on his left ear, nearly tearing it from his head. The man was thrown against the stone wall and badly bruised. He was insensible for several minutes. Physicians were sent for and his wounds dressed. It was necessary to sew the ear on again. Davis is able to go about the shop today but is not working. The doctors regard it as a wonderful escape from death.

EXPLODED IN THE AIR.

Resolutions Adopted at the Populist League Meeting.

DENOUNCING CITY ADMINISTRATION

Because It Does Not "Compel" the Harbor Asphalt Company to Go on Repairing the Streets.

S. M. Scott, the Populist nominee for congressman in this district, happened into town last evening just in time to make a speech at the meeting of the Populist League at the League rooms on Eighth street.

At the first part of the meeting, resolutions denouncing the mayor and the city administration for its alleged course in the matter of the repairs of the asphalt pavement were adopted.

[The amusing part of the resolutions is that the contract with the Barber company expired long ago; the framer of them doesn't seem to be acquainted with that fact, which makes the Populist league's action somewhat ridiculous.]

The resolutions are as follows: Whereas, The record of the Republican party in municipal, county, state and national affairs has demonstrated that it is the friend of monopolies, trusts and corporations; and

Whereas, The record of the present Republican administration of this city is very significant in its treatment of the Barber asphalt company, one of the greatest monopolies in the United States; and

Whereas, A large portion of said company's work was condemned by the Coffran administration at the expiration of the five-year guarantee of same, and just before said administration went out of power; and

Whereas, Said work embraces portions of Kansas avenue, Jackson, Quincy and cross streets, that were sadly in need of repair at the time condemned, and the asphalt company and its bondsmen were placed in good condition according to contract; and

Whereas, The cost of placing said pavement in good condition will exceed $5,000; and

Whereas, The present Republican administration is either corruptly or ignorantly repudiating said pavement at the expense of taxpayers that have already been robbed by the asphalt monopoly instead of making them live up to their contract and bond; and

Whereas, The five year guarantee upon other work done by that company will soon expire, upon which a great deal of repaving will have to be done which will be very expensive, and which should be done by said company instead of by the taxpayers; and

Whereas, The city finances are in no condition to stand a wasteful and extravagant use even in the interest of Republican pet monopolies; therefore, be it Resolved, That the mayor and councilmen of the city be notified by the presentation of a copy of these resolutions to either do their duty in the matter and compel the asphalt company or their bondsmen to make the repairs needed, and thus save the taxpayers $5,000, or resign and let some honorable and trustworthy citizens of the city be selected who will do their duty and not waste the public funds.

Mrs. Josephine Hague, read an original story and by request repeated her "Ashamed of Kansas" poem.

Willard Burdick, a student superintendent's office was then called on and made a speech in which he said that he had been told by a Republican from there that there are no Republicans at all in the western part of the state.

In speaking of the emancipation of labor, he said that was the object of the Populist party and that it must succeed. If it fails in this fight now it means that it will be years before labor will ever have another chance so good at capital.

E. E. Chesney, candidate for county attorney, was there and made a few remarks. He declared that the time is coming when "no man shall labor and hunger."

"We are at a crisis. Your oppressors are in your midst. They would take every bit of liberty you have away to-morrow if they could. They will not hesitate to slaughter even if they consider it necessary to accomplish their ends. I refer you to the recent bloodshed at Chicago."

"It is said by the Republicans that we are the party of despair. Why, we are the only party of hope; the only party that holds out to its people any hope for the future. I believe in irrigation and good roads. Employ the unemployed. That's statesmanship. Why, Cuxey is the only real statesman that the east has produced in years (applause)."

S. M. Scott was now called for, and made quite a lengthy address, in which he declared and had the figures for it, that in the last three years the Populists had saved the state $150,971.20 on the state printing business.

Just before Mr. Scott began to speak somebody who had been out on picket duty returned and announced that the Republican meeting on Seventh street had just adjourned because there was no one present but three men, two boys and a horse. A brother arose and introduced a resolution of condolence to the leaders of the Republican meeting in particular and to the party in general, and it was adopted.

Mr. Scott further said that the fight in his district was very encouraging to him and that he was sure he would be elected. In speaking of the present congress and its misdeeds he said: "I tell you there'll be a big change when Cuxey and Scotty and Debs get there." [Applause.]

Mrs. Struble then addressed a few remarks to the meeting on the subject of the women and declared that the women were now ready to assist in the campaign.
